

Home design

There is the main house, with two levels. Ground and above ground, and a level below that where the majority of the space is for living, cooking, sleeping etc. the Main house is built and planned for entertaining purposes. The roof has a garden veranda, as well as solar panels for majority power. Since the majority of the house is underground, the heat from the ground is concentrated into the house. However, there is a wood burner. And 4 exhaust shafts for maximum safety while underground. The garage slopes to enter the underground portion of the house. In the back of the property there is a pool, and deck area for in the summer time to enjoy the view, above the entrance to the garage, there is the overlook. the overlook is an entertainers room. The front approach is a long driveway lined with bushes trees and the underground is peeking out from the earth near the front half of the property. The outcropping is where the the master bed room is. It has a window with bars to ensure protection. But the window offers early morning view